

NYA MONTHLY BULLETIN 1

JUNE 2026

A NOTE FROM THE COOPERATIVE

This month marks an important milestone for the New York Artists Cooperative. What began as a conversation among a small group of friends has now become a public project.

The NYA was founded on a simple belief: artistic practice thrives in community. At a time when many artists are working in isolation and navigating an increasingly difficult cultural and economic landscape, we believe there is value in building durable relationships, sustained dialogue, and shared opportunities for growth.

We are excited to officially begin that work together.

Our website and Instagram are now live at:

Whether you're a member, supporter, or simply curious about what we're building, we encourage you to follow along and share the project with fellow artists and arts workers.

This is only the beginning.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

UPCOMING EXHIBITION: Good Morning America

Thursday, July 2 (6 - 9 pm)

Our inaugural exhibition, Good Morning America, will open on Thursday, July 2.

The exhibition brings together works by NYA members responding to the contemporary American condition. Participating artists explore questions of belief, disillusionment, identity, spectacle, community, and public life.

Additional details, participating artists, and event information will be announced in the coming weeks.

We look forward to celebrating this first exhibition together.

JUNE MEMBERS MEETING

Thursday, June 25

Our next members meeting will take place on June 25.

Monthly meetings are central to the mission of NYA. They provide an opportunity for members to discuss ongoing projects, share work, participate in critical dialogue, and help shape the future direction of the organization.

Agenda details and location information will be distributed separately.

STUDIO VISITS & MEMBER INTERVIEWS

Starting this August, NYA Editor Cleo Scott will begin conducting studio visits and interviews with members.

The goal of this initiative is to deepen our understanding of each artist's practice while building a living archive of the community we are creating together.

These conversations will explore artistic influences, working methods, current projects, and the questions that motivate each member's work.

Selected interviews and excerpts may be published through future NYA programming and publications.

Members will receive scheduling information later this summer.

LOOKING AHEAD

As NYA grows, we remain committed to building a member-governed community rooted in artistic exchange, mutual support, and sustained engagement.

In the coming months, we will continue developing exhibitions, public programs, studio visits, publications, and new opportunities for artists to connect with one another.

Thank you for helping build this organization from the ground up.

See you on June 25.
